In my country knowledge of a foreign language, especially, English is a very important and necessary part of daily life. Studying English helps people to develop creatively and have professional perfection. These statements are not abstract for me. I am going to tell how knowledge of English has helped to decide professional problems that had arisen in my life.

I have been working in a grammar school as a teacher of foreign languages for twenty six years. First I have been teaching German more than twenty years. German as English and French was one of the most popular foreign languages that students have been studying at schools of our country. Many changes have been taking place in our country. They have been making changes in the life of each person.

Many changes have been taking place in school education and in teaching of foreign languages. Now English is the most popular foreign language that is studied at schools of our city and in our grammar school.

I was going to continue working as a teacher in a grammar school. It was necessary for me so learn English to teach it. I had decided to study English hard and begun studying at language courses.

It was difficult. I was working in my grammar school from 8a.m. till 2p.m., I was teaching German. I had 5-6 lessons a day.

After work I studied at English courses. Those classes began at 6 o'clock p.m. and finished at 9 o'clock in the evening. I had ones four times a week. It was necessary for me to prepare for my German lessons in my grammar school and to do my English homework. I had been studying for two years. I needed a lot of time. I had been working hard. Well, I have already been teaching English for five years.

I am interested in studying English and I'm trying to interest my students in learning English. They study English language history, the language changes in modern English, write scientific works, do scientific projects. My pupils present their projects on the school science days. There are science days in our grammar school every year. Pupils, their teachers and scientists take part in discussions about scientific and creative works, problems of modern science. This competition collects talented pupils and their instructors. My pupils are winners at English language competitions at my grammar school, in our city and country. I'm so proud about them. I think that I've taught something well.
